BAKEL

BAKEL Technology is a groundbreaking Italian biotech company that has joined forces with Australian make-up brand BECCA. Whereas BECCA's core philosophy for product development is based on perfecting the appearance of the skin, BAKEL Skincare is based on physically improving actual skin texture, tone and clarity. BAKEL Skincare is based on unique technology, enabling its products to be formulated as fluids without the addition of any preservatives, colourants, emulsifiers or fragrances. Each product variant delivers 100 per cent pure skin nutrition in a highly absorbable format, facilitated by a manipulation of each ingredient's molecular size. This controlled molecular structure makes the product super-absorbable and delivers the active ingredient deep into the skin making it appear instantly plumped and hydrated.
